Montreal makeup artist takes us behind the scenes

EURO YIBE

"I've lived in Montreal all my life. The city has a European feel that I like, especially in my neighbourhood, Little Italy. There's always something to do, at any time, any day of the week."

STYLE ARBITER

"I buy clothing that's not super expensive, from Zara or H&M, and then accessorize with vintage pieces and create an outfit around it. I like Renata Morales' clothes – she designs her own fabrics. If I need a great dress, I ask my stylist friends to find one for me!"

PIECE BY PIECE

"My home has a blend of antique and modern things in it – and a lot of things that belonged to my grandparents. For standout pieces, I go to a store called Licari Design. I have my eye on a beautiful Indian oak dining table there."

IN POSITION

"Hot yoga at Moksha Yoga is a part of my lifestyle. It is a little more extreme, and I work out harder than if I was at a relaxing yoga and meditation class. And I sweat more, so it feels like a detox."

BLANK CANVAS

"I don't wear lots of makeup, so I'm more into the artistic than the cosmetic aspect of my job. I feel like most of the time I'm painting or sculpting."

SPURGE & SAVE

"My biggest makeup tip is to invest in high-quality foundation and concealer. I like Prescriptives and Make Up For Ever. You can buy everything else at the drugstore."
